

prefer using pokemon ID numbers as primary key, should still be unique

User account info. Want to include a way to change profile image that, if available, is displayed during battles

THINK this should work as a table to track battles. Person who initiates, person who is getting attacked, and the winner, all as user_id. Not sure if I should backref the victor key to user ID as battles won or not?

Had to go from db.Table to db.Model but still worked overall

